I plan to keep this up until bikes start shipping, at which point most of their Trolling will be useless, because then we can shove it in their face. That's when I'll start posting at EBR making them look like total idiots. I've chosen to stay quiet there in respect to Court, since we do plan to do a joint review. Their ranting has gotten so repetative there even the regulars have turned against them.

Most large projects have problems. If those problems are handled professionally and intelligently then Haters such as IAN are left with IGG on their faces. I laugh at losers like IAN who only wish Sondors to fail so he can say "I told you so". Sad really, because IAN has the type of character never to succeed in this type of ADVENTURE. If I encountered an individual such as IAN, I would make dam sure my project got special treatment just to show how much of a fool IAN really is. He is what IAN name means....I Am Nothing.....Lmao

Some advice for IAN is to drop the B/S lawsuit as it will not get him anywhere. He should have remained loyal to his/our Campaign and in the end he would have received much more. But instead his greed to rush and cash in early is going to cost him BIG TIME. Another interesting ACRONYM for IAN....I Am Nothing....

There are rays of hope. This is a comment from ebr by JoePah,,, What's so satisfying is that Sondors has out sold everyone on this website and on the Endless Sphere website, in just a couple of months. Those people are toiling in obscurity selling $30 bits and pieces to support themselves.. . Storm comes in and $5.7M later has an actual list of buyers that these people will never reach.

People with low self esteem have difficulty dealing with success by others, so they naturally have to be very petty.. If you don't have talent, what other recourse is there.

Personally I applaud those who take a risk and strike out on their own.. Storm may succeed he may fail, but he has the guts to not follow the crowd... That is what real men (and women) are made of.

A prime example of Courage is Audie Murphy. He followed his dream with passion and strength. People like IAN are intimidated by this type of forceful personality, they can't deal with it so they attack. IAN could have stuck it out and helped Storm but instead his greed got the better of him and he thought to make a quick buck. It is my guess he would stop everyone from getting their bikes just to make a quick Buck NO MATTER WHAT.

I totally understand why you think that Keith, but we didn't start it. You've only been here for 2 weeks. Many of us have been involved with this campaign since day one. We've had to endure trolls claiming we're idiots, rubes, naive, blind, shills, and a lot worse, only because we dared to support a campaign for a eBike. There's also been a constant troll campaign going on calling Storm Sondors a crook, cheat, liar, scoundrel, and a lot worse, and that he's planning to steal our money. It's not enough for them to say it all over the internet, but numerous times they've snuck into this group to rant to us about it directly. Maybe it's all true, and maybe it's not, but no one will know till the fat lady sings, and we're sick of it up to here, and we're not going to put up with it any longer. As long as you find it amusing, I hope you won't mind if we have our little fun.

I just think people are concerned with the lack of transparency concerning this campaign. for example radrover is offering a fat bike on indeggo and they are pretty good alleviating backers concerns and questions. still hoping for the best and prepared for the worst.

From the looks of things, we will get our bikes, since the factory wouldn't have started building even the sample bikes without cash in advance. If it is a scam, this would be the second most elaborate one ever pulled off, only Emeron tops it.

Like · More · Yesterday at 6:44pm

Radrover sold but a handful of bikes compared to Storm so not hard to deal with customer service when its on such a small scale. As for transparency Stprm has done better than any other CF campaign as far as showing whats going on and product updates. Even if he showed a production line of our bikes or a cargo container full of our bikes the trolls will still call foul.

What I think is, there's nothing we can do about perceived lack of transparency. It will either happen or it won't. I haven't seen one single thing yet that tells me Storm is scamming me, I've been looking pretty hard for a long time. I blame 2.0 for most of the problems. Storm seems like he's doing a good job. I don't think people understand what all he's having to deal with to make this happen. So many so called experts said it's impossible, just that alone makes me want to pull for him.
